

What is WHEYLITE ? Code N2

WHEYLITE is a delicious, nutritious, low fat, low kilojoule food drink based on whey. Whey, which naturally contains many nutrients, is the substance remaining when the fat and other components unsuitable for human needs, have been extracted from whole milk in the cheese making process. Human breast milk is 80% Whey Wheylite has no cholesterol, has half the fat of full cream milk and a much lower lactose content. That makes it far less likely to cause the allergic reactions like runny noses, sinus or coughs that affect both children and adults. Cow's and goat's milk has 11 allergens, while Wheylite has only 3.

Wheylite contains no animal fat which raises cholesterol. We use vegetable fat and very little, only 1.2 grams per 100mls. Best of all, it tastes great and can be used anywhere you would normally use milk

CALCIUM Cow's milk has a calcium-phosphorous ratio of 1.16 to1, Wheylite has the more favourable 1.4 to 1

SUGAR, LACTOSE and PROTEIN

We must have some sugars. In Wheylite, the carbohydrate content is mainly made up of Corn Syrup with a reduced lactose content. In the case of lactose intolerance (Ailactasia), the sufferer lacks an enzyme that would normally convert the lactose (the sugar of milk) into glucose and galactose. The main protein in full cream milk is casein. In the cheese making process most of the casein ends up making the cheese itself. The whey that is left contains the protein Sodium Caseinate which has proven to be much less likely to provoke any allergic reaction. When you compare Wheylite to whole milk, it has only 36% protein and just 30% of casein content. This is good because most people eat far too much meat protein. Since 1982 Wheylite has been used as an alternative to milk and to help over two hundred thousand Australians with dietary conditions
